

WHAT MAKES A GOOD EMPLOYMENT SPECIALIST?

Ability to build a rapport

Belief that despite mental health challenges, anyone can work

Dedication to keep looking for a strong job match

Motivation & organisation to independently manage a caseload, data & reports and admin

Commitment to team performance

Confidence to get out of the office and build relationships with employers

Creative in the approach taken to support someone in finding a job

Ability to work assertively and diplomatically to influence the clinical team and employers

